TESTIMONIAL

My name is Hans Silbitzer. I have spent my career in Law Enforcement, and have been a full time Firearms Instructor for the past 30 years in the Federal Police Department Vienna/Austria and now I am actively involved in law enforcement and military firearms training too, and IDPA competition shooting.

I just attended a special IDPA Training, taught by real world class shooter Robert VOGEL. He is one of the finest tactical shooters, teachers and instructors that I have ever had the pleasure of working with.

I have personally attended many commercial firearms schools across the United States, and I can tell you that the Training with Robert Vogel is truly the best: professionalism all the way, with competence, and no ego.

Robert Vogel's training course is outstanding. It combines and balances mental and physical training in a unique and extraordinary way and is extremely intense and educational.

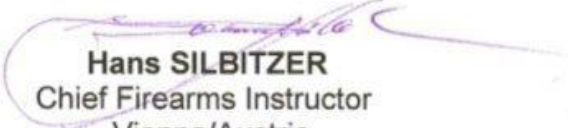

From the very first round I fired to the last, my physical skills and mental attitude were tested. I have learned to shoot with accuracy while under pressure at high speed. I left the Training with great improvements of my shooting skills, having changed my attitude and the personal drive to always make myself better.

Robert Vogel's realistic, full speed and fast-paced training gave me an enormous amount of confidence.

The thing that's the most impressive to me is that Robert can perform all the drills at an incredible speed perfectly and does more than just talk. He is a real world class tactical shooter.

I just like to say Robert is one of the best tactical shooting instructors I have ever had. He is an amazing person who kept the action moving all day long. Robert is a man who knows what he is doing and how to do it. The teaching method and progressive shooting drills made him the best. Believe me, every person that attends Roberts training will improve drastically, good shooters will became experts, and expert shooters will improve to levels not thought attainable.

I am delighted to wholeheartedly recommend that anyone seriously interested in developing an informed understanding of tactical shooting consider studying with Robert Vogel. He is in a class all by himself.
